FEATURE FLEET MANAGEMENT

Making the team work

G2 Integrated Solutions, a UK supplier of integrated smart card solutions, has installed Aerotrack telematics from manufacturer Aeromark to help manage its team of mobile service engineers.

Management of G2's cashless payment, access control and ID card production systems requires managers to monitor the location of G2's 60 service vehicles and to allocate work to the most appropriate engineer in the field.

Increased efficiency, together with savings in fuel and manpower costs, are estimated to give G2 an overall return on investment in under two years.

Aeromark managing director Roger Marks says the company can make, supply and support a range of telematic systems to suit any mobile workforce application.
